

Rhizome

If “all flesh is as grass” including the brain in its spread and deletes, shallow root stems traveled far

and so on

dynamic patterns, in other words, blown over Plains and within them, across.

Speak in fields then.

Where one tangles wildly another like weeds

not weighted as strands of a tree more like dendrites

a thinking span that flickers between

after all

between

being the place we know real or come to know anything ever in the connection

that radical looping traversal through “within” and “without”

that creates something that seems in its passage

or seams so

sew we say

binding the one to the other

with movement

over space over time

it’s the action

regarding beliefs or perceptions

it stems

as in synapse

across inadvertencies

accordingly,

Accordance.

The pulse is what passes within the small veins

under the fingers

just under flesh

preferring the with and the and rarely the but or the or –
it's not like that,
a lassoing machine
that spirals and gathers – reverberates –
from genes and beneath
to the stars.

What began as a need to be planting
simply spawned
and extended to join in the joining –
reciprocal coupling –
that binds and adjusts
either pair
through the joinder
and so on
to be thought and to think in accordance
according and
with a trajectory
we do and rhizome.

“so an animal, a thing, is never separable from its relations with the world”
-Gilles Deleuze-